No later than 31 January

The council for third-cycle education begins reviewing deviation reports and any other information in study plans, and approves study plans from the previous year.

No later than 31 December

Study plans are approved by PhD students, supervisors and subjects. In case of a major deviation from the expected progression, the subject notes a deviation report in the study plan.

ONGOING

PhD students and supervisors fill in completed and planned activities in the study plan.

No later than 28 February

A study plan for the current year is available in the research database for PhD students and supervisors to work with.

No later than 30 November

A progression report of all PhD students is sent to the subject. The subject reviews study plans and controls information regarding courses, thesis points, supervision etc.

By 1st of November

PhD students and supervisors ensures that course results and thesis points for the current year are updated in the individual study plans. By April, details for the current year should be noted in the study plan.